Helping Water Flow

You've seen water droplets bead up on leaves or stay on the soil surface instead of soaking in. Evaporation can claim this moisture before it's absorbed, robbing plants of moisture and nutrients.

With HydraFlo™ liquid surfactant, the surface tension of water is decreased, so it soaks into the soil quickly and easily.

A few ounces per acre is all that's needed, making HydraFlo an excellent additive to liquid fertilizers. Bubbles disperse quickly, allowing for easy tank mixing.

Helping Plants Grow

Because water transports nutrients, HydraFlo lets you speed water and nutrients directly to the root zone. This results in more robust plant growth.

HydraFlo also makes tilling easier, helps increase soil moisture levels, helps fertilizer flow and improves water use efficiency, whether from irrigation or natural rainfall.
